IKE AND MAMIE ARRIVE FOR DESERT VACATION

Missile Gap Study Not Completed

Kennedy 'Hopes' U. S. Military Position Secure

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy expressed hope today that the U. S. military position is "fully secure" but said he would have to await completion of a study to determine if there is a missile gap with Russia.

Kennedy made the statement at a news conference as Republican demands arose for a congressional investigation of the missile situation.

THE PRESIDENT said his top military aides have not yet given him a final answer on whether the United States lags behind Russia in missiles. He said he hoped a preliminary study would be completed by Feb. 20, but today, "we are not prepared to make a judgment."

"Of course, it is my hope that the United States is fully secure," he said. "I will be pleased if that is the result. If it is not, I think it is important that we know about it, and I will say that we will then or that I will then take on responsibility of passing on to the Congress this collective judgment as to our position, and what needs to be done."

KENNEDY said he talked Tuesday with Defense Secretary Robert McNamara and today with the Defense Department comptroller and that both assured him no final study has been completed.

Stories appeared in the press Tuesday, apparently after McNamara briefed a group of newsmen, saying the Pentagon found no missile gap. The New York Herald Tribune named McNamara as the source of the stories.

IN OTHER conference highlights, Kennedy: —Said he has no plan now to ask Congress for a tax reduction as an anti-recession weapon but that his administration will take another look at the economic situation in April.

IKE AND MAMIE EISENHOWER, relaxing in the beautiful sunshine of the desert, posed for news photographers within 30 minutes after their arrival here. Coming here from blizzards in the East, both of them voiced pleasure in being in the desert area. They have taken the Allen Paulson home at Eldorado for about two months. (Desert Sun Photo)

Round Of Golf Planned

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and his wife, Mamie, drove into Eldorado Country Club at 9:45 a.m. today to start a two months vacation in the Winter Golf Capital of the World.

His standing as a world leader was ever apparent by the presence of scores of newsmen, who waited patiently at the front gates of Eldorado until after Mr. and Mrs. Eisenhower had arrived and were settled into their vacation home.

AT THE WOOD, STUCCO and natural rock home, built at a cost of $100,000, the Eisenhowers smiled with pleasure as they were met at their front door by Eldorado Club manager William Daugherty.

And — traditional "Eisenhower weather" greeted the couple and their entourage — bright sunshine and cool air.

MRS. EISENHOWER spoke to reporters about the wonderful difference between the weather they had just left and the warm sun of the desert, and Ike, dressed in a white shirt and sweater, nodded his head in approval.

This is Mr. Eisenhower's sixth visit to the desert area, and Mrs. Eisenhower's second.

AT NOON TODAY, Mr. Eisenhower posed again for pictures on number one tee at Eldorado, and answered questions put to him by newsmen, and then started a round of golf.

He was to play golf today with his old friends, Freeman Gosden (of Amos and Andy fame), and Charles Jones, president of Richfield Oil Company.

At this time the former President and his wife have made no social arrangements and plan a strict "vacation" in the desert.

DETAILS FOR THE Eisenhowers' visit were completed as the five-car caravan arrived from San Bernardino, where they left at 8:15 this morning. Three cars carried Ike and his wife and their entourage, and the others carried personal possessions.

They were led by a California Highway Patrol unit.

Two Injured In Accident

INDIO — Michael J. Costain, 23-year-old Coachella Valley district school teacher from 44-475 San Juan Drive, Palm Desert, told California Highway Patrol officers his hand slipped on the wheel of his light foreign car, causing him to roll over in a ditch beside Highway 99 near here at 4 p.m. yesterday.

Costain and his wife, Barbara, were both taken to Casita Hospital with minor injuries, the CHP said.

Cologne Asks Fast Action on 'Unemployment'

In a personal appeal to Governor Brown, Assemblyman Gordon Cologne today called for a general acceleration of state programs of construction in Riverside County.

Seeking to alleviate the unemployment problem that has faced his District, Cologne sent a list of applications for school and highway construction scheduled for early bidding and requested immediate processing to assure jobs to needy workers.

"A RECENT MEETING of county and private welfare groups discloses that while the situation may not be as serious as we were originally led to believe," Cologne said, "the unemployment problem is a serious one which deserves immediate attention."

He went on to point out that funds are available and already budgeted for certain projects in the area and early construction programming will be extremely beneficial.

"THE SHAW BILL extending unemployment benefits may provide some temporary relief," the assemblyman stated, "but it should not be made a permanent measure. A more direct solution to the problem must be had to give our people jobs, not charity."

Spiegelman to Be Speaker at DHS

DESERT HOT SPRINGS—Palm Springs Area Democratic Club president Stanley Spiegelman, a director of the fourth district of the Riverside County Democratic Council, will speak to Democrats here on "New Frontiers in Democracy in California" at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, in the adult recreation center here.

OCEAN-BORN STORM

East Braces for New Snow, Sleet

By United Press International
An ocean-born storm churned north along the Atlantic Coast today carrying up to four inches of fresh snow followed by sleet for winter-weary eastern cities.

The new system, born off North Carolina's treacherous Cape Hatteras shoals, stole the thunder from a Great Plains storm that fizzled out over Kentucky and Tennessee during the night after dumping up to 12 inches of snow in Arkansas and 10 inches in Missouri.

AT LEAST FOUR inches of new snow were in store for Maryland and the east-central Appalachian Mountains and Washington, where side streets still bear evidence of last weekend's onslaught.

In Western Pennsylvania, light snow began shortly after mid-

HERITAGE PILOT PROJECT PLANNED

A four-part pilot project on teaching American heritage will be conducted in Palm Springs High School Feb. 28 and Mar. 1-3, with members of the second year Teaching Team and community residents combining services.

Underwritten by the Ford Foundation, the "school-within-school" study is a test of the willing contributions of community volunteers in assisting youth education. E. N. Chapman, Claremont Graduate School consultant explained.

A PILOT CLASS of 200 freshmen and sophomore students will be instructed by four faculty members with community leaders participating in four panel discussions. Panel discussions will cover political and legal, economic, and cultural heritages plus freedoms and obligations.

On the community committee are Judge Hilton McCabe, chairman; Mrs. Frank Bennett, moderator; mesdames Culver Nichols, Charles Sakin, and Paul Summers. Faculty members are Joe Hess and Mesdames Clara Alcorn, Lucille Humphrey, Margaret Young-husband.

PANEL MEMBERS will make presentations during the first hour of each meeting. Students will work in small groups with one panel member and student moderators after the panel discussions.

Palm Springs is one of 10 school districts with pilot studies planned under the Ford grant, and one of three in Riverside County.

Classic Work Worth $1,000 To PD Chamber

PALM DESERT — Coffers of the Palm Desert Chamber of Commerce were enriched by $1,000 this week — thanks to the Desert Golf Classic and the efforts of 60 local citizens.

Co-chairmen Hal Smith and Tom Cook, who headed the Classic Gate committee for the Chamber reported that the fund which will be received represent what the Classic managers would have had to pay professional gate keepers. The local men worked without pay, and Classic officials turned the money over to the Chamber.

COURT OF LAST RESORT AID ASKED

Earle Stanley Gardner's "Court of Last Resort" has been asked to intercede in behalf of Jose Angel Gonzales, convicted last November of the "buried alive" murder of 10-year-old Juanita Zepeda.

The Desert Sun learned today that Mrs. Victoria Gonzales, wife of the convicted slayer, has written a panel member of the "court" asking aid in gaining a commutation of the death penalty for the former Palm Springs gardener.

Mrs. Gonzales told the "court" that she did not believe the death penalty was justified because her husband had suffered from a head injury and had been treated for it by Los Angeles Veterans Administration Hospital.

Gonzales, sentenced to death in Indio Superior Court on Nov. 1, is now awaiting the result of an automatic appeal of the death sentence before the California Supreme Court. He is incarcerated on San Quentin's death row pending the result of the appeal.

STUNT MAN, 82, INJURED IN ACCIDENT

INDIO — Victor Allan Holbrook, 82, who described himself to California Highway Patrol officers as an "unemployed movie stunt man," got a little off on his timing on Highway 99 near the Kubic Road junction yesterday.

Holbrook, motoring over from Tucson, apparently became confused by a sign near Kubic Road, decided to make a U-turn in the four-lane divided highway. A car driven by Harry Warren, San Diego, crashed into Holbrook's maneuvering car.

Holbrook, who suffered an open scalp wound in the crash, is expected to be released from Casita Hospital here soon.

Ballet or Dance: A Sematic Puzzle

By GEORGE LAINE

Members of the Palm Springs Community Concert Association last night witnessed a rather spectacular evening of modern American folk dancing instead of the advertised "ballet."

Because of the semantic question it poses (and because the space I had held for the review of the so-called Chicago Opera Ballet is largely inadequate to this new task), I'd like to tackle the subject as a column matter.

LET'S DRAW THE differential line on dance and ballet immediately so that we'll all know what I'm talking about.

Modern dance is a more or less interpretive art—a very valid art, I believe—in which the dance is more or less subject to the whim of the dancer. (The music, in most modern dance performances I've seen, is also more or less subject to the whim of the arranger and conductor.)

Ballet, in its truest form, is an eloquent statement of dance philosophy in which the dancers endeavor to bring to life a story—set in body movement and intricate footwork—the works of masters. (The music is usually faithfully adhered to where classics or neo-classics are utilized and, lately, outstanding composers have worked hand-in-hand with great choreographers in evolving new and great ballet works. The Sadlers Wells Company of England and the Bolshoi Ballet of Russia are two examples of this new avenue.)

IT AT ONCE becomes apparent that what we witnessed last night was not ballet, despite the fairly ostentatious claims arising from the Chicago Opera Ballet Company's own press representative. Instead, we saw a well-organized dance company that did its best in interpreting some fairly far-fetched selections.

The costumes were among the best I've seen on even the best of ballet companies—the apparel for "Camille" being breathtaking—but you can't judge a dance company on its appearance alone.

The music was uniformly thin and uneven a routine characteristic of most ballet and dance orchestras. (What Isaac Van Grove did to Verdi's score for "La Traviata" in backgrounding the "Camille" was preposterous and his treatment of a lesser light, Franz Lehár, in the background for "Merry Widow" absolutely ridiculous. I've got some words for people who feel they can tamper with music already proven great but this is a family newspaper so I can't set them forth here.)

LEST YOU BELIEVE (as I did for a while) that there was nothing meritorious in the Chicago company's performance, let us straightway correct that impression. The entire company has not yet mastered the new art of flat-footed ballet.

Notable among the dancers—or maybe it was the company he was keeping last night—was a young man named Milorad Miskovitch, a good danseur by anyone's standards. He very nearly rescued the dismal "Merry Widow" with superb solo dances, in which he exhibited suppleness of body, conversance with the classic postures and some unusual control in leaps and lifts.

Another good performance was delivered by either Carol Fleming or Frumeth Hirsh in a pretty little peasant dance in the same selection that came close to effecting a classic feel.

THE MUCH-HERALDED Melissa Hayden failed to appear, a fact that was glossed over by a representative of the company with the observation that Patricia Klekovic, who attempted the "Camille" role, was "equally good, anyway."

The representative also explained away the elimination of a short, three-person dance called "Idylle" by saying that it was "only a short little story about three horses over at Smoke Tree." The laughter that followed this seemed to indicate that we should have had an all-comedy review featuring the gentleman.

There were some other points of dismay for me in the evening's work. (Such as the vulgar patting of buttocks in the opening of "Merry Widow," the pratfall when a dancer purposely dropped a partner later. But we can be grateful that they didn't hurl custard pies at one another. Or did they? I left early.)

I'M NOT CERTAIN what the answer is to the type of program offered up by the Chicago Opera Ballet Company here last night. (I'm not even certain that some of us realize there is a question involved.)

But under an ancient axiom that says you must crawl before you walk and walk before you run, I'd have to identify last night's performance as a rather unnecessary frill on the Palm Springs cultural scene.

We need music—the avowed purpose of the Palm Springs Community Concert Association—much more than we need this type of program. I would gauge that for the same price at which the PSCCA brought us this program, we could have had the Netherlands Chamber Orchestra, the Branko Krsmanovich Chorus from Yugoslavia, the Paganini Quartet or the Riverside Symphony Orchestra, all of which—I'm told—are available via Columbia Artists Corporation, which runs the Community Concerts programs.

Any of those alternatives would have been a more noteworthy contribution here.

NOTES OFF THE CUFF: Don't forget tonight's Classic Film Festival sponsored by the Desert Art Center in Desert Museum... It's another excellent bill, one you'll find greatly rewarding...

Same old troubles plaguing the Desert Circus... Can't seem to find local citizens interested in assembling a program that'll please visitors only...

'Started People Having Babies,' Claims Swanson

PALM SPRINGS — Gloria Swanson, the still glamorous early-day siren of the movie screen, reveals that her interests today range much further afield than the movies—from women's fashions to health foods to religion.

In an exclusive interview with Miss Swanson, Palm Springs Life magazine turned up these and other interesting facts about the former movie queen. Such statements as, "I also started people having babies out here—they weren't having any before I came along," make this interview fascinating reading.

Jane McGowan Heads Cast for 'Aida' Production

RIVERSIDE — An outstanding cast of internationally famed opera stars has been engaged for the leading roles in the Riverside Opera Association's production of Aida February 10 and 11 in the Riverside Municipal Auditorium.

The title role of Aida will be sung by soprano Jane McGowan. Miss McGowan is familiar to Riverside Opera goers having sung in Tosca in the 1958-59 season. In addition to her operatic roles, Miss McGowan starred for two years in the Rodgers and Hammerstein Broadway hit "Carousel" as Cousin Nettie.

Opposite her as Radames, captain of the guard, will be tenor Chris Lachoma. Lachoma, like Miss McGowan, has made previous appearances with the Riverside association having sung Don Juan in Carmen and Cacerados in La Tosca.

As the King of Egypt Roderick Ristow will again bring his powerful bass-baritone voice to Riverside in a leading operatic role.

The orchestra will again be under the expert direction of James K. Guthrie of San Bernardino.

AT DEEP WELL

Boy Friend Exuberant Tale of 20s

"The Boy Friend" opened last night for a two week run at Ferrall's Playhouse at Deepwell for what appears to be a solid fortnight of fun for Palm Springs theater goers.

"Boy Friend" is a lively boy finds girl and vice-versa study of the exuberant 20s as lived by the upper-crust British. It doesn't slow down the musical vignettes to probe mores of the gin and gynecology school of "serious" drama.

SCOTT MERRILL, special guest star who first sparkled in "Three Penny Opera" brought talent, energy, a pleasant voice and professional ease to the role of "Tony." Holly Harris added lustre to a charming cast with her elan as Madame Dubonnet, operator of a plush finishing school on the Riviera.

"Polly Brown," as presented by Jayme Mylroie, was pretty as a young girl should be, added a very ample lyric voice to her role, and managed to outline a character within the stylization of the play.

DIRECTED BY MICHAEL Ferrall, "Boy Friend" was good light entertainment for a winter eve. With spirited choreography by Don Weissmuller and competent piano-banjo-drum music under Don Sheffey the show was professional from start to finish.

A third act tango segment broke up the house, for comedy relief in one of the moderately serious moments.

Two Seattle Men to Tell Of Exposition

Visitors Will Talk To Open Chamber Meet Here Friday

Two leading Seattle businessmen will detail progress on the Washington city's looming "Century 21" Exposition in a special Chamber of Commerce open luncheon meeting at noon, Friday, in the Chi Chi here.

They are Ray L. Eckmann and Joe James, flown into the Southland by Western Air Lines expressly for a list of speaking engagements.

THE PAIR WILL tell of the aims of the "Century 21" Exposition which is focusing its attention on "Man in the Space Age" during its six-month run from April 21 to Oct. 21 in the Washington city. Co-hosting the exposition with the City of Seattle are the U. S. Government, the State of Washington and the Century 21 Exposition, Incorporated.

Eckmann, who operates the Martin and Eckmann mens clothing store in Seattle, and James, owner of Ye Olde Curiosity Shop, a bay-front mecca for sightseers, will set forth the project in detail for the luncheon crowd. Both men are active in Seattle's Chamber of Commerce and will seek to interest Southland communities in the Seattle project during their Southland visit.

Century 21 Exposition will deal substantially with man's cognizance of five areas of progress in the space age. They include:

—WORLD OF SCIENCE. This is being advertised as the greatest science exhibit ever assembled.

—World of Century 21. It sets forth the world mankind will live in through the century to come.

—World of commerce and industry. It shows progress in these two areas with emphasis on the effect of the space age.

—World of art. A huge pavilion will house a wide range of varied art accomplishments.

—World of entertainment and gayety. A specialized treat for exhibition attendees, the programs will be widely varied and continuously entertaining.

AN ADDITIONAL attraction called Boulevards of the World will feature bazaars and shops in a 15-acre area.

The public is invited to attend the open luncheon Friday.

Bomb Pranksters Here Face Full Prosecution

Police today have cleared up and identified all persons involved in the recent bomb scares at Palm Springs schools.

Police Chief August G. Kettmann reported today that his department has identified the students who placed the call to school authorities and police saying that a bomb had been placed at the school.

Chief Kettmann said that the callers had been two girls, about 15 years old, but did not release their names.

A group of boys were earlier identified as the one that called about a bomb at the junior high school.

Police said that because of the seriousness of the crimes, all will be prosecuted. Juvenile petitions were filed on the boys and similar action is being contemplated for the girls.

Transient Unhurt In Auto Mishap

COACHELLA — A 48-year-old transient, David C. Marines, was struck by an automobile at 7:35 p.m. Monday, and a scant hour later walked away after treatment in Casita Hospital, Indio, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Marines was walking across Highway 99 seven-tenths of a mile north of Avenue 48 here when he was struck by a car driven by Rutherford Wallace Luke, 69, of Coachella. The CHP reported the area where Marines was crossing the highway was dimly lighted. When Marines was seen by Luke, the driver attempted to swerve left to miss the pedestrian, who apparently jumped backward into the path of the car.

COUNTY SUPPORTS GAS TAX INCREASE

Support of the Supervisors Association of California in urging a 1 cent increase in the state gasoline tax as a method of acquiring funds for construction of county and city roads was determined by a four-to-one vote of the Board of Supervisors this week, with only Supervisor William Jones voting in opposition.

Supervisor George Berkey last week urged the board to advise the state association that it would support the "equivalent" of a 1 cent tax rate indicating support of either the gas tax or an in lieu tax increase not to exceed the 1 cent gas tax in amount.

IT BECAME evident that Supervisor Fred McCall would vote against the approval of an "equivalent" in lieu tax leaving the choice open, but would approve pinpointing the gas tax raise.

Supervisors Norman Davis and Paul Anderson also expressed preference for the gas tax raise. Davis argued that the gas tax makes possible a contribution by out-of-state motorists for construction of the roads they use. "It spreads the cost around a little more," he observed.

"THERE IS LITTLE chance that any legislation will be adopted to provide a means for raising funds for these road deficiencies," declared Berkey, "without the unanimous support of the counties, so I will go along with approval of the 1 cent gas tax increase, letting the chips fall where they may."

Supervisor Jones gave no specific reason for opposition to increasing the gas tax rate. He also opposed any addition to the in lieu tax which would increase the motor vehicle license fee.

Desert Visitor Dies of Heart Attack at Indio

INDIO — Oscar Torkelson, 64-year-old tourist from Minneapolis, died of an apparent heart attack Monday afternoon when he returned with his brother, 66-year-old Nels Torkelson, Anaheim, to the scene of a minor non-injury accident on Highway 60-70 near here.

The California Highway Patrol reported Nels Torkelson was driving his brother's car when he was involved in a sideswipe accident one and three-tenths miles east of here at about 11:30 a.m. Monday. They turned to look for the other car, driven by Robert Washington Rhea, 69, Paramount, Calif., failed to locate the car, and drove to Indio to report the accident.

When they returned to the scene with a CHP officer, Oscar Torkelson slumped over was pronounced dead at Casita Hospital. He was accompanied by his wife, Alvina, his brother and sister-in-law.

CITY COUNCIL CHANGES MIND ON MEETINGS

Palm Springs City Council, at its luncheon meeting Monday, indicated that it would hold regular sessions of the government body on Monday nights, four times a month.

The discussion came up after some of the councilmen expressed a dissatisfaction in the holding of meetings every Wednesday night, thereby splitting the week in half.

The council is, however, split on just how the Monday sessions will be set — whether they will be held at afternoon or night — but the consensus was for the Monday night meetings.

Paisley Law Would Oust Teen Hordes

New Ordinance Would Make Teen Occupancy Illegal

Councilman Harry Paisley, backing a request of the Palm Springs Hotel and Apartment Association, yesterday asked the city council to adopt an ordinance which would make it a misdemeanor for teenagers to occupy hotel rooms in Palm Springs.

The ordinance, which was drawn by City Attorney Jerry Bunker and presented first to the Hotel Association for its approval, was read at the council's luncheon meeting.

IT IS EXPECTED to be introduced at the Council session tonight.

Under the ordinance all persons from 18 to 21 years of age are considered minors and those under 18 are considered minor children.

THE LAW SPECIFICS that both the hotel operator and the minor can be prosecuted if a hotel room is occupied by five or more minors without an adult being present and staying with them. The maximum penalty under the new law would be six months in jail, or $500 fine, or both.

The action will be taken as a step to halt the invasion of Palm Springs by the hordes of teenagers who make the resort city their Easter vacation land.

PD Citizens Ask Expressway for Section of 111

PALM DESERT — Residents of this community launched a concerted drive for creation of an expressway along a five mile stretch on Highway 111.

At a breakfast meeting of the Chambers Board of Directors and committee members, Manager Don McNeilly was directed to correspond with Jacob Dekema, of the State Highway Department who is in charge of roadways in this area.

"There is unanimous agreement between residents of Palm Desert and members of the Indian Wells Property Owners Association that the expressway be completed at an early date," McNeilly said.

If authorized, the expressway would originate at the junction of Highway 74 and run about 5 miles to Washington street.

Median teaching salaries went from $3,667 in 1950-51 to $6,123 in 1959-60. Median administrative salaries jumped from $6,575 to $11,855 in the same period.

Welcome Mr. and Mrs. Eisenhower

On behalf of the people of Palm Springs and the entire Desert Area, The Desert Sun is proud to greet former President and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower. Known and admired by residents here, Mr. Eisenhower is no stranger to this vacationland. But this time he comes without the cares and responsibilities that he had to bring with him on former visits. He will have that much-deserved rest to which he has looked forward for so long.

Perhaps no other President in the nation's history left office with greater respect and appreciation from his countrymen than Dwight Eisenhower. Through all of his eight years of service in the highest office in the land he has been a shining example of what the American people like to see in their President. His personal popularity prevailed through all those troubled years and extended to all parts of the Free World.

When he left the White House last January 20, Mr. Eisenhower could look back with pride on a record of 50 years of service to his country and his fellow men. As General and President, he served America with distinction in war and continued threat of war.

While—as he said in his farewell to the American people—his hopes for a permanent peace could have been brighter when he left office, his unflinching devotion to the cause of world peace can never be questioned.

Although he has served his country long and well, Mr. Eisenhower has said that he still remains subject to call for even more service. We hope, however, that his well-deserved retirement from public office will not soon be interrupted by such a call. Both he and Mrs. Eisenhower have longed for the kind of relaxation and rest that this area provides so well. Then too, there is the prime attraction of these desert golf courses for which Ike has often expressed a fondness.

The Eisenhowers could hardly have left the White House without a sense of nostalgia. He must have also experienced a feeling of great relief from the awesome burden that he carried for 20 years. We hope the vacation here of our distinguished visitors will be just what they have longed for and like it so well they will want to have a winter home here.

A Changing World We Live in

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Will the Russians beat us in getting a man into space? For a first-hand look at America's "Project Mercury" program, famed reporter Bob Considine went to Mercury headquarters, talked with the seven astronauts in training. Here is the first article of a series.)

By BOB CONSIDINE
LANGLEY AIR FORCE BASE, Va. — Project Mercury, that indescribably complex plan to boost a man into earth orbit and recover him unscathed, today finds itself further complicated by political, economic and even ideological factors.

Without these added drags, the logistics of orbiting a human are appalling to all but a comparative handful of authorities on space, students of survival, engineers and missilemen. The seven remarkable men chosen for this great scientific adventure possess all those characteristics, plus that something extra which can only be identified as sheer guts.

BRIEFLY, THESE are the aims of the Space Task Group of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration:

—Create and refine a capsule big enough to house a man, small enough to fit on the point of an Atlas missile, heavy enough to withstand shocking acceleration and deceleration, light enough so that the Atlas will be able to lift it 100 miles high and squirt it into orbit at approximately 17,900 mph.

—Stuff it with enough instrumentation to enable the astronaut to maintain command of the vehicle through hours of weightlessness and moments moments when gravitational forces will make him weigh a ton.

—SHIELD THE PROW of the capsule so that as it hurtles back to earth like a meteor it will absorb or dissipate skin temperatures of beyond 10,000 degrees Fahrenheit, thus protecting the astronaut from being cinderised.

—Apply the rocket-brakes at precisely the right second, 100 miles above the Pacific, hundreds of miles off the coast of California, so that the capsule will fall in a planned and controlled area of water off Puerto Rico.

—TRAIN SEVEN men to undergo physiological and psychological stresses never before known to the species, such as the phenomena of "falling" through many successive days and nights that last only 45 minutes (because of the speed at which the earth is circled), and of descending down across the full breadth of the United States in just eight minutes.

—Slow down the capsule by drogue and cargo chutes, find it once it alights in the water, and pull the futuristically uniformed man from his cocoon.

BUT THIS COLOSSAL endeavor now faces almost as many earth-bound aggravations as there are mysteries beyond the earth's atmosphere. Here are three:

—Its officials and technicians face a tedious, time-wasting (though perhaps necessary) Congressional hearing to look into the cost of the project ($343,000,000) and the reason for the delays in climbing it.

—THERE IS AMPLE reason to believe that the Russians will achieve human orbit first.

—There is a growing uneasiness in economy-minded areas in the government that project Mercury is but a dangerous stunt, and it should be abandoned if Soviet astronauts score the propaganda and scientific "first."

IF THE SEVEN American astronauts are concerned about either series of problems — nature's or man's — they are magnificent actors. They are the most normal, relaxed persons one could hope to encounter in a lifetime's search for such qualities. They are married, have kids (15), work more or less regular hours, go home each night to dinner, read the papers, watch TV.

In season they fish, hunt, golf, water-ski, skin-dive, ice skate, play tennis and drive the kids to picnics. There is, among the seven, what appears to be a complete absence of rivalry, jealousy or the apple-polishing that might lead to being named the first to go up.

WHEN A MAGAZINE paid an estimated $500,000 for "after work" rights to their stories they agreed among themselves that there would be no greater share for the one who was first to go; that the last in line would share alike with the first. As a further stroke of unity, all use the services of Leo De Orsey, a well known Washington attorney and business adviser.

Here they are, as they stand on the rim of adventure too breathtaking for the average man to comprehend:

—LT. MALCOLM S. Carpenter, USN, 33, good looking, trim, father of four, majored in aeronautical training at the University of Colorado. Korean war. Test pilot.

Capt. Leroy Gordon Cooper, Jr., USAF, 33, tough and wiry 150, two children, University of Hawaii trained. Former Army, former Marine. Test pilot, 1,500 hours in jets.

QUOTES

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. — A prisoner at Huntsville state prison on the enthusiasm shown by convicts to help a sister and brother who donated many blood transfusions:

"We could make this a yearly thing and keep them in blood forever."

UNITED NATIONS — Adlai Stevenson, ambassador to the U.N., on the United States' quiet diplomatic efforts in the Congo situation:

"We have conducted an exploration around the world in an effort to find a consensus."

—Lt. Col. John Herschel Glenn, Jr., USMC, dean of the astronauts at 39. Two children. Fought Japanese in old F-4U's operating out of the Marshalls. Instructor between wars. Knocked three MIG's out of air over Yalu River in final nine days of Korean War. As test pilot, broke in series of supersonic fighters. Winner of five distinguished flying crosses, 19 (count them) Air Medals.

—CAPT. VIRGIL IVAN Grisom, USAF, 34, two children, Purdue. Flew 100 combat missions in Korea, DFC, Air Medal. Aeronautical and mechanical engineer, Scholar.

—LT. CMDR. Walter Marty Schirra, Jr., 37, Naval Academy '44. One of Navy's top test pilots. Saw service aboard battle cruiser, then moved to Naval aviation. Flew 90 combat missions over Korea. Took part in the development of the Sidewinder infrared missile. Graduate of Naval Air Safety School University of California. Two children.

—LT. CMDR. ALAN Bartlett Shepard, Jr., 37, father of two. Naval Academy '44. Naval War College, '58. Destroyer officer in Pacific during World War II. Won wings after war, became test pilot, and became one of the Navy's top men in sampling flight at extreme altitudes. Served as aircraft readings officer of Atlantic Fleet.

—Capt. Donald K. Slayton, USAF, 36. A son, 3. B-25 pilot in World War II in Europe. A-26 pilot flying out of Okinawa at end of war. Went to work for Boeing after war. Recalled during Korean crisis. Has flown and helped perfect every jet fighter ever used in Air Force.

THE MEN ARE such physical marvels that the only incapacitating illness any has suffered since being chosen for their awesome task two years ago was a virus that bedded Capt. Slayton briefly last year. It struck him as he prepared to accompany the others to the west coast to study the latest developments in the Atlas, new rocket engines at Rocket-Dyne, North American's X-15, B-70 and Dynasor programs, and similar lore close to their lives.

When the six returned they went immediately to Slayton, in a body, and for two hours they briefed him on everything they had learned — so that they would have no advantage over him in knowledge of the state of the art. Slayton, in turn, pitched in and did the same when Capt. Cooper's father died, and Cooper was forced to leave Langley AFB for a short time.

And so they bide their time, waiting for many things — including that bound-to-be startling day when a quiet and somewhat harassed scientist named Robert R. Gilruth, director of project Mercury, looks from face to face, stops on one face, and says, "You."

(Tomorrow: Why the Russians probably will be first to put a man in orbit, and a guess as to whether they have already tried and lost one or more of their astronauts.)

About the Classic
I've had my say,
A few more words more
And I'll leave it lay.

You're probably weary of my verbosity (that's a 50 cent word you get for a dime about the Palm Springs Desert Golf Classic, two days gone.

But I would like to say just a few words more.

PALM SPRINGS and the surrounding desert area certainly provide a beautiful scenic background for television.

The long stretches of fairways, the manicured greens, the many trees and the background mountains, are something to behold.

Along with the prowess of the nation's top golfers.

IMAGINE sitting huddled by the fire with snow piled up high outside, the wind howling and the temperature far below the shivering point and seeing the sharp shadows on the fairways and greens as the pro-belted the ball under cloudless skies in near 80-degree temperature.

With the announcer calling attention every few moments to the fact that "there's very little wind."

THE GUY comes in from the woodbox, puffing and huffing. He tosses his load in the basket and almost crawls into the fireplace to defrost himself.

He looks at the TV, it's late afternoon back there and the sun is going down on a gloomy day.

He sees the coatless men, the pretty girls in shorts, the bright sunshine.

YOU JUST KNOW he's saying to himself:

"Hot darn! What am I doing here?"

"That's for me. That's where I'm gonna be next winter."

If it had been cloudy and damp as it usually is down here at the beach where I am writing this after watching the finals at Tamarisk Country Club on TV, it would have been a perfect day — for me.

PEOPLE ALWAYS look at me as if I had a hole in my head. "Why do you go to the beach each weekend if you're so nuts about the desert?" they ask. Well, I've always heard that a change is good for you. Besides, I get that thrill when rounding Whitewater Point of seeing the desert spread out before me, once a week. It's always new.

ONE THING the Classic has done is to make Palm Springs a bad word at Lloyds of London. They have a bell there that rings everytime there is a disaster and they're nicked for a wad of insurance dough. Joe Campbell boomed the disaster bell last year and last week Don January had it sounding off again. In two years, $100,000 less about $18,000 premium. They'll probably write off the Classic as a poor risk.

Can't Win Them All

The odds against man on the dice tables of Nevada are 1.414 against. This mathematical formula applies whether you bet with the house or against it.

Nick the Greek always bet with the house — the back line. He said this reduced the odds to 1.316, a figure I never quite figured out. Yet the odds reduced Nick eventually.

EVEN THIS BIG-TIME gambler realized that odds outweigh the luck of the gunner. "The dice don't know who's throwing them," said the Greek sadly.

IN SPITE OF such overwhelming proof, I find I am still leary of walking under ladders. I don't believe such things, mind you. But I play the odds.

I think my odds are better when I do not tempt Fate. Such attitudes, according to scientists, prove you are a little daffy.

"THE BELIEF THAT it is unlucky to sit down at a table of 13 is a superstition that roots principally in unstable persons," said Dr. K. T. Pangborn. The Dr. looks over daffies for a Midwest university.

Since many people are slightly daff, he has a lifetime of pleasure.

WHEN I WAS toiling for the free press, I interviewed numbers of people who would have delighted the doctor.

Reporters are not chosen for this job (they call it the "nut editor"). They are not called nor are they chosen.

They are hand-picked by the daff people who come to newspaper offices to present their solutions to world ills.

I THINK IT MUST be a case of it takes one to know one. Anyway, let anyone come into our office with a perpetual motion machine, a case of being shot full of electricity, or any sort of unusual problem. Let him just walk through the door.

The room was filled with earnest gentlemen, pounding out golden prose of blood and slaughter.

Our boy would survey that noble group. And he would walk right straight to me. "Hey, you!"

I MET A NUMBER of delightful people. All of them were playing the odds their own way. And better, they were winning.

I met a lady who predicted earthquakes.

She predicted them all in Denver. (I think she got a noisy hotel room or something in Denver.)

The fact that it never quaked in Denver didn't bother her at all. She played the odds that it must SOMETIME quake in Denver.

I MET A MAN who was sitting on Top of the World. He signed his letters "Top of the World."

He wanted me to sit up there with him.

"Quit your job," he advised me. "I'll put you on Top of the World!"

He go so mad because I kept sitting at the bottom of the world, he tried to throw a brick through the window.

IF YOU BELIEVE in odds, I think it makes you happier. (Nick the Greek was much happier when he had figures his odds reduced from 1.414 against to 1.316.)

Once I was sitting around when a gentleman walked in. He was playing odds that he had invented a time machine. Nobody would come out and see the machine. It made him pretty mad at the world's stupidity.

By this time I was a little hep.

"THAT SORT of thing is up to the city editor," I said. I pointed him out and sat back to watch the action.

My boy did not disappoint me. He walked over to the city editor and he belted him.

I have heard countless reporters talk wistfully of clobbering a city editor. Here was a man who walked in and did it. Happy, happy fellow.

Dear Abby...

...by Abigail VanBuren

DEAR ABBY: I am a high school student who makes straight A's. My problem is I am well liked by my teachers but not by my classmates. The reason: When people ask to copy my homework I tell them I don't mind helping them with something they can't understand, but I don't see why I should spend three or four hours on homework and then hand it over for someone to copy. They call me stuck-up and selfish. How can I keep up my work and my friends, too?

SELFISH

DEAR SELFISH: "Copying" homework is dishonest, and he who hands over homework for copying is just as guilty as the copier. Keep on saying "No." The "friends" you lose because you refuse to cheat are not worth having.

DEAR ABBY: This month marks our tenth wedding anniversary. I am 29 and my husband is 33, and we might as well be 80!

When I go to kiss him, he tells me he's tired. He has no reason to be tired, Abby. He has a job where he sits all day. (He drives a cab.) We have two children. I keep myself neat and clean, am a good housekeeper and hold down a part-time job. And what's more, I still get whistled at when I walk down the street. What is a young wife supposed to do with a husband who is old at 33?

NEGLECTED

DEAR NEGLECTED: Maybe he IS tired. (Driving a cab is no breeze.) But something else must be troubling him. He has either physical or mental problems he is not sharing with you. If you love this man, show your interest in HIM (not yourself) by insisting that he get a physical check-up, and talk his troubles over with you.

DEAR ABBY: Your advice to "Silver Blonde" may be right in certain areas, but not in Alaska. It's not what you HAVE BEEN, it's what you ARE that counts. In Alaska, it's "no questions asked." If a person wants you to know about his past, he will tell you.

When I find the girl I am looking for, I won't ask where she came from or what she was. Age, religion, divorces, fat or thin—I won't care. It's how she treats me that will count. This is not my own opinion. I have asked several other men up here about it and they all agree with me. All except one young punk who hasn't grown up yet. But he will, if he stays in this country and lives through it.

Sincerely,

A. C. FROM ANCHORAGE

Hearing Set For SMC Area Zone Plans

Supervisors Will Hear Both Sides At March 6 Meet

A hearing will be held before the Board of Supervisors March 6 at 10 a.m. on a new plan for zoning the Shadow Mountain Club area at Palm Desert for which adoption was recommended to the supervisors this week by the county planning commission.

Officials of the planning department had expressed the hope that the new plan, a revision of the existing plan which contains some restricted commercial zoning of the Adrian Schwick property would be satisfactory to the majority of the large group which protested the Schwick development at the planning commission hearing.

IT APPEARS unlikely that the problem is solved, however, as several letters of opposition arrive daily at the planning commission office in Riverside.

The new plan, on which the March 6 hearing is to be held, would permit Schwick to proceed in an area in which some buildings are already under construction along the 18th fairway south of Ironwood Street, shown to be zoned R-2A which provides for single family or multiple dwellings on lots with a minimum size of 7,200 square feet.

THE R-2A ZONE continues northerly along the east side of San Luis Rey and is also shown along the west side of Portola southerly from the lot at the corner of Shadow Mountain Drive.

The area adjoining the R-2A zone along the east side of San Luis Rey, north of an easterly extension of Ironwood, and bound by lots on the south side of Shadow Lake, is zoned general residential (R-3) permitting hotels, motels, single and multiple residences, clubs, professional offices, rest homes and numerous other uses.

THE REMAINDER of the golf course area bound by Fiddleneck Lane on the west, Portola on the east and Grapevine Street on the south would be in a one family dwelling zone R-1 with a minimum lot size of 9,000 square feet.

The property purchased by Schwick from Cliff Henderson includes 64 lots on which he contemplated construction of 125 units, two per lot along the fairways, primarily in the area of the second nine.

County Highway Fund Aid Told

Apportionment of funds for use of roads in Riverside county under the Secondary Highways Act of 1951 was made known this week to the Board of Supervisors by J. C. Womack, state highway engineer. The amount available from Federal-Aid Secondary Funds is $359,381, and from the State Highway matching funds, $100,000, a total of $459,381.

The supervisors instructed county counsel to prepare a resolution agreeing to use the funds on roads. Such an agreement is required as precedent to the allocation.

405 Industrial Pl. 324-4939 has designed an improved Sacroiliac Brace (US Patent No. 2,813,526) that he uses after Chiropractic Adjustments to properly maintain correction in severe cases. Consultation invited. 9 to 12 and 2 to 4 daily except Sat. afternoon and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Nick Burmesch have been entertaining their niece Mrs. Blake Stetton and daughter, Diane, of St. Paul, Minn., while Mr. Stetton attended a conference in Los Angeles. It was the Stettons first visit to California and they found the warm weather very appealing.

Ted and Eleanor Spellaza were dinner guests of the Don Hulberts at the Highlander Restaurant on Friday night. The occasion was Ted's birthday and his thoughtful hosts surprised him with a birthday cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Katz celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary last Friday by hosting members of the Congregation Nove Shalom to a reception and buffet following the services on Friday evening and again on Saturday morning.

Diane and Don Little are receiving congratulations on the birth of their second daughter, Cindi Louise, on Feb. 3, at the Desert Hospital. Cindi's grandmother is Mrs. Billie Thompson of B-Bar-B Ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Utheim of Aberdeen, Wash., who have been visiting relatives at Moab, Utah, spent several days here last week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ole Utheim. During their stay the two families accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Ove Sigstad motored to Las Vegas and Phoenix for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Lars Hanson of Orange (he's one of the original founders of the Alpha Beta Stores) are spending a couple of weeks at their home on West First Street here.

Harold Karlson, of Long Beach, the Swedish born wood carver whose work is considered by experts to be among the finest in the country, was in town for a short time on Sunday. Examples of his finest carvings are now on display at Marie Ropp's, "The Little Gallery of the West," 11-715 Palm Drive.

Palm Desert 'Smog' Fears Get Airing

Concern of the Palm Desert Chamber of Commerce over the increasing pollution of air in the Palm Desert area by trash burning during the morning and afternoon was made known to the Board of Supervisors this week by the chamber's manager, Don McNeilly.

"One of our most prized assets is our clear, pure atmosphere," declared McNeilly. He requested that the board take steps to permit burning only after 4 p.m., with no burning Saturday and Sunday, and that the hours during which burning is permitted be stated on the permits.

"THE OPTIMUM would be to ban all burning at any time," said the C of C manager, "with perhaps the exception of agriculture." He said agriculture type fires are in the minority in the Palm Desert area, with most of the burning by builders and householders.

The request was referred by the board chairman, Supervisor Norman Davis, to Truman Holland, forest ranger in charge of county fire stations.

"Don't you think this should be referred to the air pollution control department?" asked Supervisor Paul Anderson, former chairman.

"NO," REPLIED Davis. "If there is no motion to the contrary I am referring it to Holland."

"I don't care where you send it," replied Anderson, "but the air pollution control department will surely be interested."

Davis has been on the board only since the first of January. When campaigning last fall he expressed opposition to the trash burning ban which becomes effective in 1962.

STRICKEN BY RARE DISEASE

Convicts Open Hearts to Ailing Tykes

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. — The two freckled-faced kids needed help.

And the men behind bars — many of them without hope, with little or nothing to live for — asked one question.

"How much?"

VICKI ERLER, 13, a pretty little girl with soft brown hair, and her brother, Vaughn Charles, two years younger, were the first children ever to visit the maximum security unit at Huntsville State Prison.

Vaughn, they call him Bubba, wore a sweater with a big "W" on it. He's quarterback for his school's pee - wee football team. He looked the picture of health. So did his sister.

But the kids, children of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Charles Erler of Mesquite, Tex., need blood trans-fusions every week or two because of a rare disease called Mediterranean anemia.

BUBBA HAS HAD more than 250 transfusions. Vicki has had more than 300. The disease is characterized by an inability of the victim to reproduce red blood cells.

Chaplain J. N. Foreman asked the 450 prisoners present if they would donate blood for the kids when Wadley Research Institute's bloodmobile visits the prison this coming Thursday.

Cheers rang out. A multitude of hands, both white and colored, shot up. Erler, who works for the Texas Employment Commission choked with emotion as he thanked the prisoners for their overwhelming response.

HE SAID IF NO other illness causes an increase in their needs, the 150 to 200 pints of blood expected to be donated would last for more than a year.

WHITE HOUSE PET ROSTER GETS A BIRD

WASHINGTON IN —Caroline Kennedy has added a canary to her growing company of White House pets. With logic discernible only to 3-year-olds, she has named the bird Robin.

Reporters have been trying to find out who the canary belonged to since they saw the bird cage being unloaded from the family plane Caroline last Saturday.

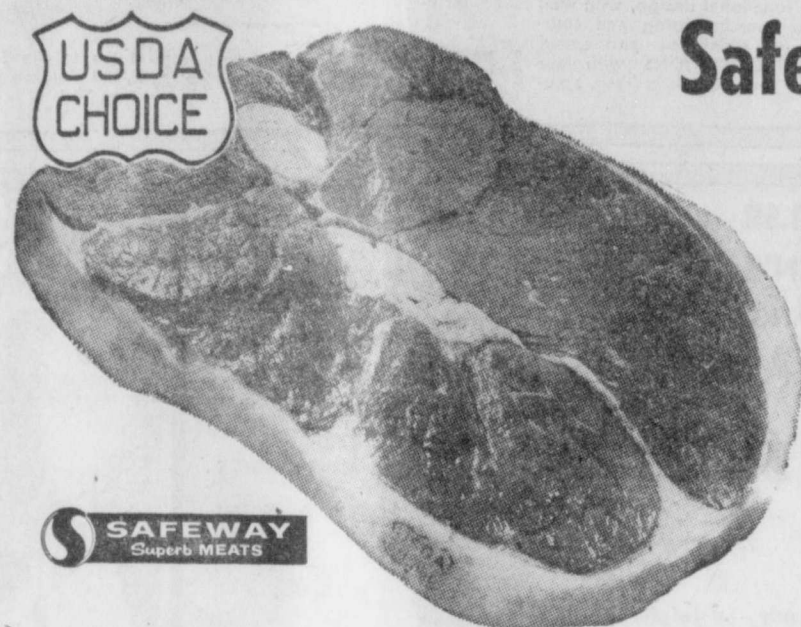

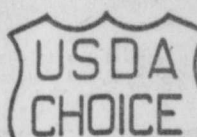

Caroline also has a cat named Tom Kitten at the White House and a dog, which has been at her grandparents' farm.

LAW OBSERVANCE CAN CUT MISHAPS

SACRAMENTO — The effects of non-compliance with traffic laws are dramatically revealed in accident statistics just compiled for areas served by the California Highway Patrol, Commissioner Bradford M. Crittenden announced.

"During 1960, there were 95,460 accidents in CHP areas. Ninety-four per cent, or 89,632, involved one or more violations of the vehicle code.

assumed the individual responsibility to know and observe traffic laws.

"IT SHOULD NOT even be necessary for the Patrol to call for such action.

"Just the certain knowledge that violations cause a huge majority of accidents should bring drivers to a sober awareness of their responsibility," he said.

Spa Gets Spotlight In U.S. Publications

NATIONAL SPOTLIGHT was turned on Palm Springs recently when Eleanor Phillips, West Coast Fashion Editor for Vogue Magazine visited Warner E. Gilmore, executive director of the Palm Springs Spa. Miss Gilmore was accompanied by Paul Stoller who prepared a photo layout on Eldorado Country Club and the Spa for publication in a forthcoming Vogue issue.

A series of national magazine feature stories about Palm Springs have resulted from a recent press junket sponsored by the Palm Springs Spa.

Warner E. Gilmore, executive director of the Spa said that Vogue magazine will shortly feature an article about Eldorado Country Club; a swimming pool feature and highlights about the Spa. Harpers Bazaar will also publish a four color layout in a forthcoming issue.

Other publications carrying the Palm Springs story as the result of the junket include the Los Angeles Herald-Express, Portland Oregonian, San Diego Union-Tribune, Los Angeles Times and the San Diego Magazine.

Castro Jibes At U. S. After Water Grab

Cuban Premier Claims U. S. Fears Are 'Hysterical'

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro's official radio said yesterday government seizure of the water company supplying the U. S. Naval Base at Guantanamo was "designed to regulate rather than disturb" its operation.

The broadcast described U. S. fears that Castroite authorities might cut off the base water supply were "hysterical." It assailed U. S. newspapers for "jumping to conclusions" about the action.

THE CASTRO REGIME called meanwhile for a schoolboy "demonstration of solidarity" to offset the antigovernment student strike that hit private secondary schools here Monday.

Castroite students were summoned to a mass meeting outside the Cuban "white house" at 6 p.m. It was not immediately certain whether Castro would deliver a balcony speech to the students who turn out.

WALLS, ELEVATORS and trees around Havana's schools were plastered Monday night with decals displaying the fish symbol of anti-Castro students—copied from an emblem used by the persecuted Christians of ancient Rome—and waving support of the student walk-out.

A spot check of Havana schools Monday revealed the student strike had caused extensive absenteeism in parochial and other private junior high schools and high schools. Very few public school students, if any, heeded the strike call.

Koufax Inks Dodger Pact At Slight Hike

LOS ANGELES — Sandy Koufax, the hard-luck pitcher with the strikeout touch, today headed three Los Angeles Dodgers who sent in their 1961 contracts to General Manager E. J. (Buzzie) Bavasi.

Last year Koufax ended the season with an 8-13 record, but he struck out 197 men in 175 innings or an average of 10.13 per nine-inning game. He was second to teammate Don Drysdale in strikeouts in the National League.

Koufax was estimated to have received a token raise and is believed to have signed for around $18,000.

Manager Walt Alston indicated Lillis will be given a chance to try out at second base this season.

Won't Feel Like Champ Until He Wins Over Archie

MIAMI BEACH — New light-heavyweight champion Harold Johnson confidently opened the gates to all challengers today, but said the man he has to beat to "really be a champ" is ancient Archie Moore.

The rock-muscled Philadelphian won the National Boxing Association version of the title Tuesday night with a ninth-round technical knockout over young Jesse Bowdry of St. Louis before a crowd of 4,000 at the Miami Beach Convention Hall.

JOHNSON, 32 and nine years older than his opponent, downed Bowdry four times before the St. Louis fighter's handlers threw in the towel 45 seconds after the round started.

Johnson looked like a deadly gladiator with his shaved head and relentless left jab — a punch he slackened intentionally as the rounds went on and fooled Bowdry into coming out of his crouch and leaving Johnson clean openings.

But in his dressing room, Johnson relaxed with a mile-wide grin, delighted with his crown after years of trying. He hammed it up for photographers, shook hands with NBA president David Ott and other well-wishers, then talked about the fight and Moore.

"I GUESS I don't really feel like a champ yet — when I beat the old man, then I'll feel like a champion," said Johnson, referring to Moore.

"But the last I heard from Moore he was going to be a movie star."

Later in the evening, however, word came from Moore's camp that Moore was "very interested" in a $250,000 guarantee from local sportsmen seeking to have him meet Johnson at Miami Beach.

But Johnson's manager, Pat Olivieri, said he was ready to take on anybody "and maybe we don't need Archie at all, although Harold feels like he has to revenge those four defeats from Moore."

Johnson is recognized as champion everywhere but in New York, Massachusetts and Europe where Moore still wears the crown lifted from him by the NBA in other areas for his failure to defend.

IT'S WHEN THEY BANG AWAY THAT THINGS HAPPEN

Par Taking a Beating but Those Bogeys Still Pop Up

By OSCAR FRALEY

MIAMI — It's been 22 years since Slammmin' Sammy Snead took an eight on one hole to blow the U.S. Open and, while they've never let him forget it, he has a lot of company each and every year which quickly fades into links limbo.

Already this year, golden boy Arnold Palmer has helped himself to a 12 on one hole and Ken Venturi has chipped in with an eight while he was leading in the Palm Springs Classic. Neither of which matches the 13 whacked out by Jack Fleck in last year's Western Open.

THE ANSWER is that Snead's eight came under dramatic circumstances, on the final hole of the Open in 1939 to cost him a championship he never has been able to win.

Looking at occasional exhibitions such as this is inclined to give us hackers a fine, self-satisfied feeling. And we might be inclined to be just a wee bit on the pompously critical side when considering the fact that a man who matched par last year would have won $38,398 on the tour as well as the PGA championship.

But don't let those kind of figures fool you. The pro golfers of today are fracturing par worse than it ever has, has been blasted. Last year's PGA was the only tournament won by an over-par score, which is a tribute actually to the man-killing caliber of the Firestone course in Akron, Ohio.

Breeders' Title At Stake Today

ARCADIA — Olden Times, Wire Us and Ronnie's Ace headed a field of five 3-year-olds in today's $50,000 California Breeders' Championship at Santa Anita race track.

Monk's Hood Tuesday won the $10,000 Ontario Purse by a neck as he edged Civic Pride and Oilgarchy.

Monk's Hood returned backers $20.80 to win. The winner's time was 1:42 2-5 for the 1 1-16 miles.

BUT ON THE WHOLE the guys who line their wallet with a wedge really hop up old man par. Look at some of their heroics on the tour last year as an example.

Palmer shot a seven-under-par 29 for nine holes at Tucson which was matched in various other locales by Curtis Person, Johnny McMullin and Don Janury.

Bill Casper fired a 62 at Indianapolis and there were 12 scores of 63 on the tour.

Gene Littler, Dow Finsterwald and handsome Bill Johnston all carded 129 for 36 holes — which comes out to 64.

Doug Sanders had a 195 for 54 holes, reading 65-65-56.

Johnston stroked out 282 to win the Utah Open, which is a little more than 65 for each of four rounds. That 282 was 26 under par, an algebra student informs me.

Don Bishplinghoff carded seven straight birdies in the Pensacola Open.

GARDNER DICKINSON JR. had 11 birdies on one round of the St. Paul Open.

Casper, at St. Paul, and Art Wall in the Utah Open went through the entire 72 holes with only one bogey.

Casper also shot 25 consecutive sub-par rounds from Aug. 26 at Milwaukee until Nov. 19 at Lafayette, La.

There were 17 holes in one on the 1960 tour as well as two double eagles by Gene Coghill of New Hartford, N.Y., and Mac Main of Danville, Va.

Sure, par golf would have won $4,200 in the Masters, $5,000 at Colonial, $1,950 in the U.S. Open, $1,650 at Los Angeles, $1,550 in the Buick Open and $1,475 in the DeSoto Open. But you can't ever count on par golf being good enough to win, and these guys are all after the top spot. Look at Wall. He shot a 284 — 24 under par — in the Utah Open. All it got him was second place.

So they hitch up their pants, spit on their hands and — while they tell you to "swing easy" — they hit it with everything they've got. That way an eight, a 12 or a 13 is bound to come up once in a while. Ask Venturi, Palmer or Fleck.

Women Hoop Champs Play Here Tomorrow

Two top scorers from each team in the City Basketball league will comprise a squad of 12 players from which a team will be selected to play the All American Red Heads, championship women's basketball team, on the floor of the high school gymnasium Thursday night.

Game time is 8:15 p.m. A preliminary game between players of the City loop who did not make the All-Star squad is slated for 7 p.m.

ON TOUR of the West Coast, the Red Heads come to Palm Springs with a long list of wins over men's teams, playing under men's rules.

The team plays between 180 and 200 games a year and has an average of well over 50 per cent in wins over strong men's teams. Coach Benny Overman says the team has never won less than 100 games per season.

HOWARD HADDOCK, city recreation director, and Clare Balogh, athletic director at Palm Springs High are co-chairmen for tomorrow night's game.

The event is a benefit for the Palm Springs High Varsity club. Because of the benefit game, there will be no game in the City League tomorrow night.

Around Town

... with Hildy Crawford

The Bavarian Beer Festival... which was a weekly event at El Mirador for the past two winters... moves out to Eldorado Country Club tonight... with all the props that made it one of the most popular Wednesday night events around town... The hats and the polkaing... the Bavarian food with Gerhard Knaak there to supervise it... are all promised for tonight... and Manager Bill Daugherty promises that if Club members and guests like it... it may continue... There hasn't been much advance notice on it... but the word got around enough that several large parties are planned... The Clarke Swansons will be entertaining... and Ray Ryan is bringing a party of friends... to keep an eye on the Festival which he innovated two years ago...

In the Ryan party will be Prince and Princess Alexander Hohenlohe of Salzburg, Austria... Baron and Baroness von Tantz (they're partners with Hohenlohe in the Schloss Mittersill... and also own a ski resort in Franconia, N. H.)... the Frank Bogerts, Sydney Schiffs, Gar Moores... Clarence Browns, Eddie LeBarons, Raymond Loewys, J. A. Harrison and Mrs. Helen Florsheim...

It's a heartwarming story... that Mary and Bill Gargan will serve as honorary "Cancer Crusade" co-chairmen for the annual fund raising drive here... March 15 through April 22... As the world knows... Bill underwent surgery for throat cancer last November... losing his larynx and his voice... right at a high point in his acting career...

It would have been understandable if bitterness had crept into their hearts... but instead both these wonderful people say they are thrilled to be of help in any way they can... to make this Cancer Drive a big success... Another woman well-known in Palm Springs... where they have been home owners and Racquet Club members over the years

SHARING WEDDING DAY honors, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Vernon Lonberger cut their three-tiered, goblet-supported wedding cake. Lonberger-Blackfield Vows Recited Here on Saturday

Blackfield of Palm Springs and Kentfield, California, became the bride of Roy Vernon Lonberger in a Saturday afternoon ceremony at the home of the bride's parents at 1245 Paseo Tiempo. They said their vows before Judge Eugene Therieau.

The bride wore a ballerina length, white organza gown with a shoulder length veil and carried white carnations. She was attended by Martha Lynne Collins of Marin County who wore a pale green silk print and carried pink carnations. Best man to the groom was Lowell Hall of Los Angeles.

The bride attended the University of California at Santa Barbara and was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lonberger of Compton, the groom was a student at the same university and was a member of Delta Tau Delta. He is now attending Art Center in Los Angeles, where he is studying commercial design. After honeymooning in La Jolla the newlyweds will be at home in Los Angeles.

Guests at the ceremony and at the reception-luncheon, which was catered by Florence Lowell, were Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Fulop, Mindy Williams and Dr. and Mrs. Harry Nierenberg and daughter, Judy from Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. William Dixon from Kentfield; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Layne and son, Steve and Mrs. E. Lonberger (the groom's grandmother) from Lancaster; Sara Morris from Portland; Mr. and Mrs. Warren R. DuBois and Bill Bartholomous from Lake View Terrace, California; Mrs. Percy Ries, Chuck Kavoy and Joyce Lonberger (the groom's sister) from Compton; Mrs. Samuel Freeman, San Francisco and the bride's sisters, Penny Williams, Judy Zeltmann and Wendy Blackfield.

brunches are an unbelievable experience... that everyone has to see... and from what I hear... next Sunday's will be the most...

In addition to the week at Golden Door... and the Red Head painting by Helen Braunschweiger... it was announced today that an O. E. L. Graves painting will be given away at the Pathfinders black tie dinner dance at the tennis Club on the evening of February 18...

Rumors about the all-out decorations... the table favors... and the special menu and music... indicate this will be one of the smartest parties of the winter... As it is being limited to 200... reservations must be accepted in the order received... Kae Gannon is ticket chairman... but since she has been out of town... reservations may be telephoned to 325-3363 or 328-2804...

Model Clothes They Made

Palm Springs High School Homemaking Classes and their teacher, Miss Elda Murphy, entertained their mothers and 8th grade Nellie N. Coffman Junior High girls and girls of the Palm Springs High School with a fashion show and tea.

The stage was beautifully decorated with a huge cutout valentine, and on each side of it were red thrones on which were seated the Valentine King and Queen, young Master Phillip Ballagh, son of Palm Springs High School Coach and Mrs. Claire Ballagh, and little Miss Mehala Alcorn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Alcorn (Mrs. Alcorn is a Palm Springs High School counselor).

More than 50 girls participated in the fashion show, wearing school dresses, skirts and blouses, sports wear, date dresses, formals, and sleepwear which were designed and made in their Homemaking classes.

Outstanding in its division was the formal gown modeled by Miss Betty Weatherford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Weatherford. Betty, the Miss Palm Springs of 1960, was wearing a pale pink satins, was fashioned with a round cut-out neckline and a tight fitting bodice. Miss Cathy Malone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Malone of Palm Desert, wore an attractive, simply designed date dress of blue green cotton weave. Cathy is the present Miss Palm Desert of 1960.

Following the Fashion Show, which was held in the auditorium, mothers accompanied their daughters to the patio area where tea and cookies were served to the guests.

High School P-T-A Plans Hobby Show

Anyone have a hobby he wishes to share? The Palm Springs High School Parent-Teachers Association hopes there are many who do. According to the President of the Association, Mrs. Susan Marx, the group is at work preparing for a Hobby Show for the month of April. It is their hope that parents and their sons and daughters will join forces and present their hobbies together.

"We already have a button fancier lined up for the hobby," said Mrs. Marx, "who is very anxious to meet another button fancier, and we have a postal card hobbyist, who has expressed great interest in lobbying for his hobby."

President Marx pointed out that anyone interested in showing his hobby should write to her in care of the High School "I will telephone or get in touch with them immediately," she said.

As soon as the Parent-Teachers Association is able to evaluate the interest in the hobby project, further details as to date and place of the hobby showing will be announced. Right now they want to know—"How many are interested?"

was given away by Arthur Pace of Manhattan Beach, a close family friend. Best man to the groom was David Rowan of Riverside.

Following the ceremony, the newlywed's mothers co-hosted a cocktail reception at the Hilltop Room. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Patrick Adams and the late Patrick L. Adams of Culver City and attended Venice High School and Los Angeles City College, where she studied dental hygiene.

DEAN RUSK
WRINKLES, TOO

Bald Rusk 'Equipped' For Big Job

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7 — Dean Rusk, the new secretary of state, has at least one advantage over the last three men to hold that post.

He doesn't have to spend as much time in the barber chair.

UNLIKE DEAN Acheson, John Foster Dulles and Christian A. Herter, all of whom had various amounts of hair to cope with, Rusk begins his tenure nearly denuded of cranial upholstery.

Considering the demands made on a secretary's time, this can be important.

It means that he will be able to guide the ship of state with both hands on the tiller and no motion wasted on comb and brush.

MOREOVER, WHEN his hairline disappeared over the horizon, it left Rusk with a virtually unlimited expanse of forehead to wrinkle in thought.

Judging from the number of problems in the world today, I would say that he probably will need every inch of it.

Rusk gave his views on some of these problems Monday at his first news conference since taking office. He inspired my confidence right away, not only with his baldness but with the way he conducted himself and what he had to say.

THE CONFERENCE was held in the new State Department Auditorium, same place where President Kennedy already has been blazing trails to the New Frontier by holding televised seances with the press.

Rusk, however, reverted to the old fashioned format, with "live" cameras barred. This gave the affair a homey touch that helped put everyone at ease.

I mean, it was nice to be able to sneeze without 60 million people saying "gesundheit."

EVEN SO, THE environment was too much for one reporter. He addressed Rusk as "Mr. President" instead of "Mr. Secretary." Although he is new at his current job, Rusk showed that he is not lacking in diplomatic training. He greeted us by paying respects to our experience and competence in reporting governmental affairs.

Should our quest for news occasionally clash with the department's desire for secrecy, then he hoped the ensuing tug-of-war would be a friendly one, he said.

I WOULDN'T SAY that his praise of the press corps disarmed anybody, but there did seem to be an unusually small percentage of loaded questions.

Rusk also was exceptionally frank for a government official. If, at times, he begs off answering a question on grounds that he is not prepared, he said, the reason may be that he actually is not prepared.

Marines Aid Miner

Victim of Fire gets A House

By SGT. C. E. HELMEN and PFC. TOM POLSTON
 TWENTYNINE PALMS, Calif.—Modern-day Marines stationed at this rocket and missile base got a touch of the old-time pioneer spirit among desert dwellers at a gold-miners house raising on a recent Sunday.

The scene was set at the ruins of the Karl Schapel home which was destroyed by fire last New Year's Eve.

APPROXIMATELY 400 people were on hand to aid in restoring the living quarters of 83-year-old Karl Schapel, owner-operator of the Golden Egg mine, which he has worked for nearly 20 years.

Mingling in with the crowd were 26 Marines from this base, who made the trip early Sunday morning. Their transportation included a two and one-half ton troop-cargo truck with water trailer and a Marine Corps bus.

Traveling east on the Twentynine Palms Highway, the convoy turned South onto a dirt road far past the Twentynine Palms airport. Nearly 12 miles in toward the mountainous terrain, all civilian cars and the military vehicles had to park at the mine and home of the late Bill Hahn. From here workers and visitors were transported by a special truck about a mile down a steep section of the mountains to the site of the house raising and barbeque.

CREeping ALONG the narrow road around the mountain side, the truck came to a stop at the busy activity of early arrivals who were nailing the walls together.

The floor to the house was laid the day before, and in no time at all the Marines were busy at work clearing away rocks and debris for a more suitable parking area.

Later in the morning the Leathernecks were nailing boards into place, sawing lumber and leveling out the land, for landscaping, around the fast growing house.

The truck continued to make trips back to the parking area as people continued to arrive at the mine.

ONE MARINE SAID, "This is just like an old-time get together back into Kentucky, where people come from miles around to help some family who had trouble with fire or flood."

John Hilton, the famed desert artist, was on hand with his guitar to lend inspiration to the work crew and provide entertainment for the crowd at the barbeque which began around noon.

The outdoor meal consisted of 100 pounds of beef and 25 pounds of pork for pit barbeque, supplied by a local meat market. Scores of salads, vegetable dishes and desserts were placed onto the tables brought by the visitors.

THE MEAT WAS prepared for the feast the day before, when it was wrapped in an oiled cloth and buried in a pit Saturday at 8:30 p.m. to be barbequed overnight. By noon Sunday, it was finished and the Marines along with civilians rigorously consumed the tasty meal and were offered "seconds".

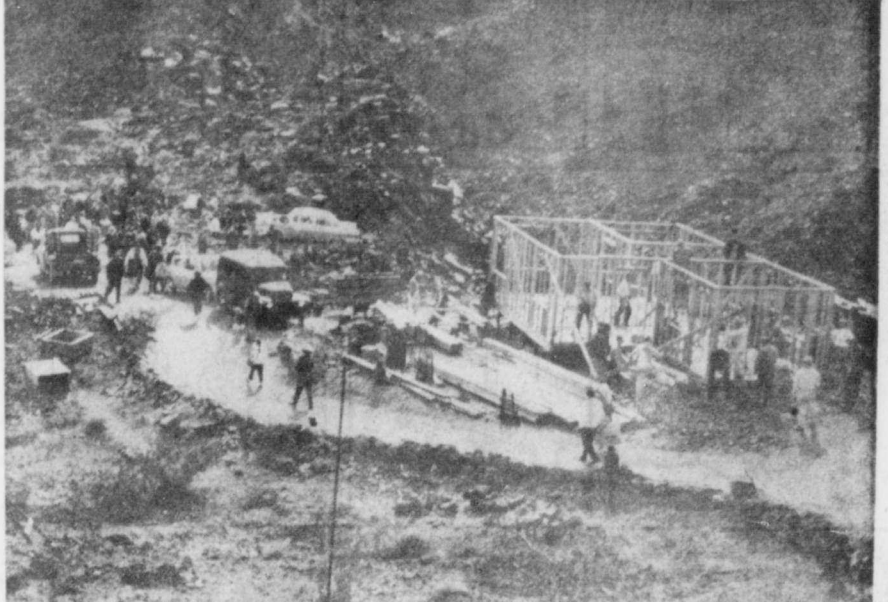

Included in the day's events for the Marines and civilians was a tour of the gold mine. Many were amazed and some even brought back samples of the ore in its many colors with specks of gold dotting the quartz patterns.

When the Leathernecks returned to their units around 6 p.m. Sunday, they were all contented with a very nice day — and a helping hand for a desert pioneer.

MASTER SERGEANT William W. Shirley, left foreground, helps Lance Corporal Robert R. Leath, with pick, and other members of the detachment, First Force Service Regiment, clear away rocks and other debris while Corporal B. J. Lucero of Headquarters Battery, First Field Artillery Group places the removals in a wheel barrow. The house in the background is a three-room home replacing the old one which was destroyed by fire New Year's Eve. (Official USMC Photos)

AMONG THE VAST mountain range overlooking the Pinto Basin area of the Mojave Desert, approximately 400 civilians and Marines of Marines Corps Base, Twentynine Palms, busy themselves in restoring the living quarters of Karl Schapel, 83-year-old owner and operator of the Golden Egg Mine. The visitors helped the German-born miner after hearing that his house was destroyed by fire New Year's Eve.

quarters of Karl Schapel, 83-year-old owner and operator of the Golden Egg Mine. The visitors helped the German-born miner after hearing that his house was destroyed by fire New Year's Eve.

WHILE THE VISITORS were enjoying eating barbecued beef or pork, a social circle forms around Karl Schapel, wearing miner's cap, who is the center of all talk as nearly 400 civilians and Marines from the Marine Corps Base, Twentynine Palms, help restore his living quarters.

WITH EVERYONE appearing to be saying, "Mmmmmmm," these Marines settle down among the rocks for their noontime meal. They had their choice of pork or beef, both of which were barbecued overnight, and scores of salads, vegetable dishes and desserts.

WALT DISNEY'S SWISS FAMILY ROBINSON

Actually filmed in Switzerland! The decision by CBS-TV to show "The Spy Next Door" in the "Armstrong Circle Theater's" next hour, Wednesday, Feb. 15, means postponement for "The Fortune Tellers," an "actual" about phony palm-readers. "Spy," dealing with Soviet espionage, was yanked from last Wednesday's schedule but was taped that night, anyhow.

A MUSICAL adaptation of "Autumn Crocus," starring Janet Blair, Betty Garrett and Ricardo Montalban, subs for "The Dinah Shore Show" on NBC-TV for Sunday, Feb. 12.

Jackie Gleason plans to do at least seven more "live" Friday night half-hours on CBS-TV and is lining up suitable coffee-sipping full-hour action series starring Jack Warden as Matthews Gower, deputy police commissioner in charge of field operations in a "Large American city," makes its debut on Sunday, April 2, in the time slot now occupied by "The Islanders."

Raymond Massey, who began portraying Abraham Lincoln in 1938 with "Abe Lincoln in Illinois," against stars as the Civil War president when "Our American Heritage" presents a half-hour dramatic special, tentatively titled, "The Last Full Measure," on NBC-TV for Saturday, April 1.

THE WORD IS THAT Milton Berle and his "Jackpot Bowling" format on NBC-TV are set up for a split in the near future.

Obliging

FOSTORIA, Ohio (UPI)—James LeRoy Thompson, 26, Fostoria, hitch-hiked across the country to go to jail.

Thompson surrendered to California authorities and told them he was wanted in Fostoria on a forgery charge. California officials released him when Fostoria officials said they would not spend the money to send an officer to California to return the prisoner. A few days later, Thompson walked into police headquarters here and surrendered. He said he had hitch-hiked to Ohio.

SPEAR UPRAISED to "attack" Disneyland jungle explorers, a tall Watutsi warrior "threatens" a passing boat along the Rivers of the World in Adventureland. One of the sights Desert Sun carrier boys will observe when they visit Disneyland Sunday. This true-life safari into deepest Asia and Africa is complete with huge hippos and alligators charging the jungle craft, trumpeting elephants, lions, tigers, tall giraffe and other jungle dwellers—designed especially for the stay-at-home big game hunter.

Desert Sun's Carriers to Eye Disney Kingdom

Carrier salesmen of the Desert Sun will experience all the thrills of an explorers' journey into untamed tropic jungles when they visit Walt Disney's Magic Kingdom in Anaheim on Sunday.

Disneyland's Adventureland — one of the Park's five major areas, or "lands" — is a re-creation of a remote jungle region.

ITS FEATURE attraction is a water-borne tour aboard authentic African Naphtha Launches, which steam down several of the world's most famous rivers. En route, passengers are "threatened" by savage cannibals, life-like alligators and hippos and giant gorillas.

Boats of the "Rivers of the World Jungle Cruise" depart from an authentic tropic dock and enter the Rain Forest where orchids seem to grow without soil in the always damp atmosphere. Further along, bull elephants trumpet their calls from opposite banks, lions feast on a fresh killed zebra and African head hunters are interrupted by the boat's passing in the midst of a threatening war dance.

BACK ONCE AGAIN in civilization, the carriers may roam through Adventureland's shops and bargain with the "natives" for unusual souvenirs of their journey.

Disneyland's other major attractions — a total of 45 in 1960 — are located in Frontierland, Fantasyland, Tomorrowland and Main Street. All await the carrier salesmen of the Desert Sun as reward for exceptional work.

MEDICS TELL HOW NOT TO CURE COLDS

CHICAGO — Doctors may not be able to cure the common cold, but they've cured Americans of taking a lot of home remedies, the former editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association has declared.

"Colds have been attacked by inhaling the breath of a duck, snuff has been used to sneeze out a cold and sneezing at one's reflection in the mirror has been urged with the hope that the cold would pass on to the reflection," Dr. Austin Smith told a rural health conference.

"A not unpopular cure for the gripe was to have the sufferer hang his hat on the bedpost and drink whisky until he could see two hats," he said.

Duncan Hines 'Approves' Nine Desert Locations

Nine Palm Springs area establishments will receive national recognition in the 1961 edition of the illustrated Duncan Hines Travel Book, "Vacation Guide" coming out next month, according to an announcement by Roy H. Park, editor-in-chief of the Duncan Hines Institute, publisher of the Duncan Hines Travel Books.

The Palm Springs area establishments are among 1,700 vacation places in North America — from luxury resorts to rough-and-ready fishing camps — "Recommended by Duncan Hines."

They are: Twin Palms Lodge at Palm Desert; B-Bar-H Guest Ranch, Deep Well Guest Ranch, Desert Air Hotel, El Mirador Resort Hotel, Howard Manor Resort Hotel, the Oasis Resort Hotel, Smoke Tree Guest Ranch and Wonder Palms Resort Hotel and Cottages.

ENTERTAINING THEIR houseguests at dinner at Desert Air Hotel are Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Pilar and two-year-old son, Rex, of Rancho

Mirage. The houseguest, Donald P. Riede of Beverly Hills, was godfather to Rex. He is associated with ABC-TV. (Lee Wenzlick Photo)

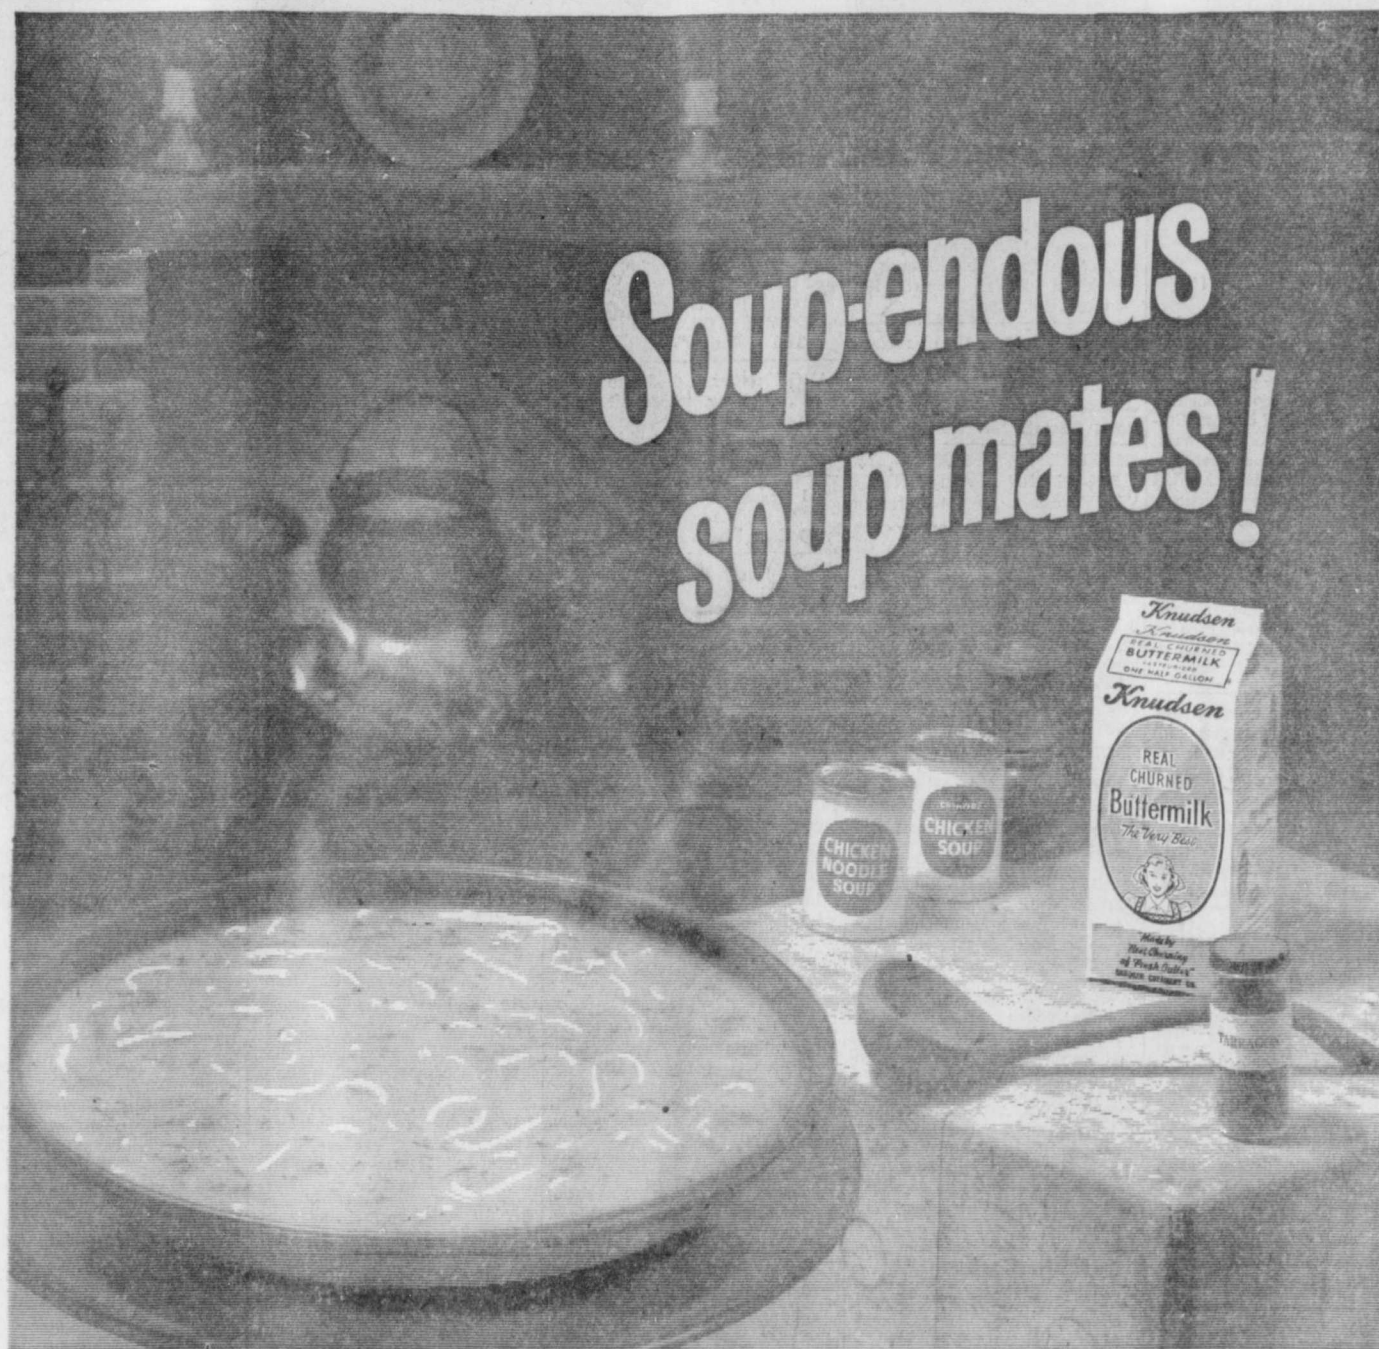

Largest Shrine Turnout Attends Club's Luncheon

A total of 106 Shriners, the largest attendance of the year, were present for the second luncheon meeting of season Monday of the Palm Springs Shrine Club, according to Gerald K. Sanborn, club president.

The meeting was held in the Chi Chi here.

The Villagers, a group of Palm Springs High School students, entertained and USAF M Sgt. Leroy R. McCraney spoke to the Shriners regarding the mass enlistment of a Palm Springs "flight" — some 35-40 Palm Springs youths who would join the Air Force together and serve together for a four-year hitch.

Next event for the Shriners is the installation of 1961 officers in a dinner-dance scheduled for March 4 in the Palm Springs Riviera Hotel.
